

The world's Number One manufacturer of braided sleeving products just made it easier for you to buy, stock and sell the entire line of Techflex consumer products for the high performance and auto/motorcycle enthusiast market.

Our exclusive new "Double Yellow" line of consumer and shop products includes all of the tough, flexible wire/hose/cable management and customization products that have always been the industry standard among manufacturers and race teams, as well as brand new high performance and thermal protection products.

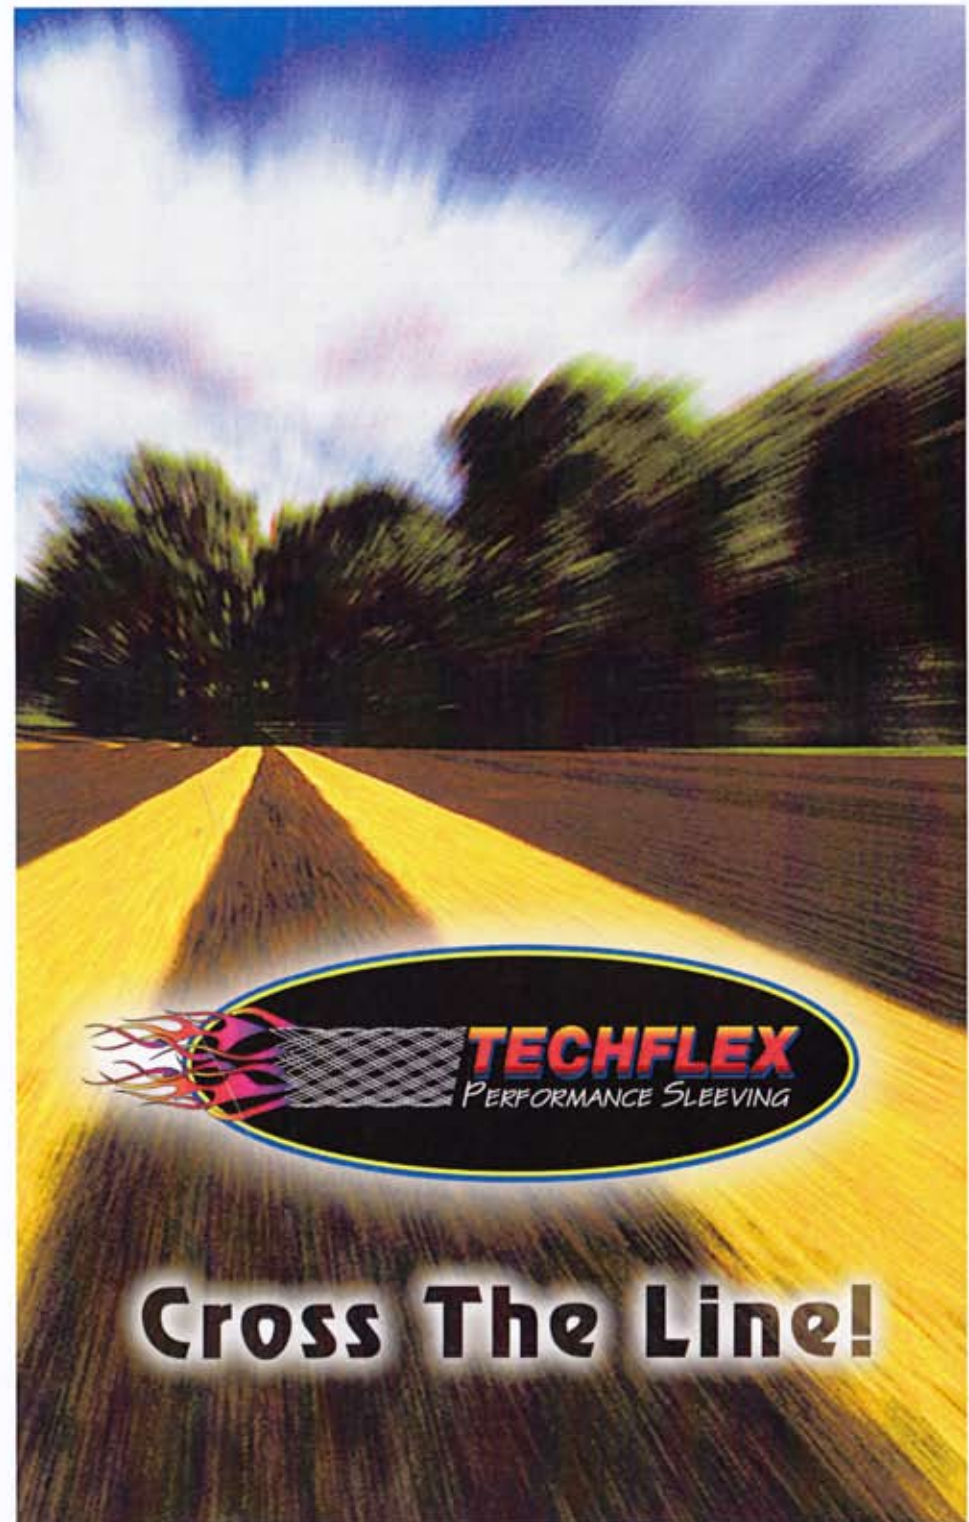

Packaged with our new, highly visual "Double Yellow" consumer product graphics in clear clamshell packaging that showcases the product, the entire line of nearly 800 SKU's is engineered and priced to sell. Manageable case lot minimums and flexible color assorting make the "Double Yellow" line of Techflex braided sleeving products ideal for small dealers and high volume outlets alike. Each package is UPC coded and is completely compatible with virtually all POS and automated inventory systems.

For DIY users, we've packaged our most popular products in convenient kits with pre-cut and measured lengths of sleeving and finishing solutions. Each kit contains enough material to complete an average installation on the intended application. For custom projects, or to complement the kits, the most popular products and sizes are also available in economical single size/color packages.

Underneath the new names and vibrant graphics, and inside those clamshell packages, Techflex still provides the same extensive range of high quality products that our customers have come to expect for nearly 40 years. We still offer the widest range of cable management and customization solutions in the industry, as well as our newest products engineered to provide the highest level of thermal protection for delicate components and wires.
